Comparison of incidence, prevalence, peak density, and infection duration between reference data and simulation with calibrated immunity and gametocyte development parameters. Simulation data corresponds to the single (solid blue) and 100 (transparent blue) parameter set(s) with highest combined likelihood across all study sites.