

Additional file 1. Western blot analysis of cell lysates prepared from cells treated as indicated. The relative level of eEF1A was normalised to β -tubulin in the same sample by analysis of digital images using ImageJ software. The experiments were repeated three times with similar results and representative results are shown.