

- Up to three lines of active therapy recorded per individual
- At any point, disease progression may occur
 - Some individuals return to a subsequent line of active therapy following progression
- From active therapy or progression, individuals can transition to supportive care
 - Assumption that no return to active therapy following initiation of supportive care