Figure S1: Proportions (weighted to the US population) of subjects taking asthma controller medications stratified into the different phenotypes, among all participants included for asthma phenotype classification (left) and only in those with a single phenotype (right). P-values <0.05 were indicated. NA: Non-applicable (not possible to determine because some participants had both B-Eos-high and FeNO-high asthma phenotypes).