

Online Resource 5 Transmission electron microscopy (TEM) measurements of tau fibrils confirmed the presence of paired helical filaments (PHFs) in all AD and control extracts. The width of fibrils is observed to alternate between approximately 10 and 20 nm, conforming with the previously reported description of PHFs (10).